(b) U.S.-Japan Trade Council: On July 5, 1978, Lawrence R. Walders met with Ms. Susan McKnight of the U.S.-Japan Trade Council at her request to review the status of the antitrust litigation involving Japanese manufacturers and importers of television sets and other consumer electronic products and components, as well as other trade issues. The Council informed us that it was preparing a report on these matters and asked for our assistance to insure factual accuracy of the report. On August 24, 1978, Registrant furnished Alan Schloesser of the Council with a copy of Registrant's speech delivered on December 8, 1977 before the McGraw-Hill Seminar on Integrated Circuits held in Washington, D. C.

(c) Embassy of Japan: Registrant and/or his staff furnished legal and informational services covering congressional activities including passage of amendment to H.R. 8149 by the Senate Finance Committee denying application of certain provisions contained in same to Section 592 of the Tariff Act of 1930 penalty provisions to prior fraud currently under investigation; ratification by the U.S. Senate of the U.S.-U.K. Tax Treaty, congressional call for a 15% temporary surcharge on imports from Japan and rejection of same by Administration, criticism of Congressional Task Force on U.S. and Japanese efforts to improve bilateral trade balance. Registrant and/or his staff provided analysis of several bills introduced or passed by Congress including the Customs Procedural Reform and Simplification Act of 1978, the Free and Fair Trade in Procurement Act of 1978, the International Unfair Trade Laws Procedural Reform Act of 1978. Reported on Treasury Department actions including initiation of first antidumping investigation under Trigger Price System, Secretary Blumenthal's call for an international agreement to stop "predatory" export subsidies, confrontation conference in antidumping proceedings on motorcycles from Japan; reported and analyzed various presidential actions including denial of escape clause import relief to stainless steel table flatware industry, veto of International Trade Commission decision in the Section 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930 proceeding against Japanese welded stainless steel pipe and tube imports, request to Congress for extension of the countervailing duty waiver authority, announcement of new U.S. export policy. Registrant and/or his staff also reported on miscellaneous developments including Justice Department policy on extraterritorial application of U.S. antitrust laws, court rulings and decisions affecting import trade, trade issues discussed at Fifth Judicial Conference of the U.S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, developments in the bilateral U.S.-Japan trade negotiations. Registrant and/or his staff also advised Embassy on tax matters, and otherwise reported on executive departments and agencies, congressional and industry activities covering economic and trade policies.

Item No. 13

On May 26, 1978 Registrant was interviewed by Ms. Marsha Berss of FORBES Magazine by telephone regarding background information on the industrial fastener escape clause proceeding before the International Trade Commission and its status for the purpose of an article Ms. Berss was preparing for that magazine.

On July 11, 1978, Scott Schmedel, a reporter for the Wall Street Journal, called Registrant and interviewed him regarding recent developments on imports of television receivers from Japan including questions relating to the impact of the Orderly Marketing Agreement between the United States and Japan on color television receivers and the Supreme Court decision rejecting the notion that commodity tax forgiveness on exports constitutes a countervailable export subsidy. In addition, Registrant was asked about the Section 337 investigation by the International Trade Commission initiated by a complaint filed on behalf of GTE Sylvania on imports of television receivers.

Registrant did not and does not believe that these activities benefited any of his foreign principals in any quantifiable terms, either directly or indirectly. However, since these activities may be perceived to have benefited any one or more of his foreign principals, these activities have been reported herein.
